

ABOUT US

Strengthening COMMUNITY

With a thoughtful and committed understanding of the needs within the Waccamaw region, Waccamaw Community Foundation offers support through the responsible, intentional philanthropic giving to nonprofits, programs and to scholarship. Our vital role and approach allows our region to continue to thrive, and as a result, the idea of community is strengthened and unified into a closer, tightly knit shared culture of people and place.

What we do

Through our daily work, we endeavor to remain approachable and to make giving easy — while also being purposeful — by offering individuals creative ways to establish and manage grants and other funding sources that will positively impact organizations and causes for generations to come. And oftentimes, we can direct funds that align with the donor’s areas of interest — frequently via endowed philanthropy.

In the end, we exist to connect those who want to give to those who are in need. And all the while, we remain accountable to the donors and financial-planning professionals who have trusted us to make the greatest impact with their resources.

Results

Through the generosity of our donors, WCF has awarded more than $21 million in grants since its establishment in 1999 — with $450,000 of that focused specifically on disaster relief and recovery — all making real and lasting impacts in Georgetown and Horry counties. And we look forward to continually building on that legacy by helping the donors of the Waccamaw Region connect with the causes they care about.

Vision

We believe passionately in the idea of community, and together we will work to fulfill the needs of our community.

The Waccamaw River (named by native Americans meaning between the waters) served as a resource to early life in this area - allowing inhabitants to both survive and thrive. And in much the same way, the Waccamaw Community Foundation strives to serve as a resource for the communities throughout our region, connecting people to causes and resources so that together, we can all progress and prosper.
